if the chemist shows inability in arranging generic meds and another should look for the pharmacist that has generic versions of branded drugs you’ll also hear that it’s sexist to give female characters agency that involves male traits www.parkinson.org/books